

STACHYS (LAMB'S EAR)

Location: Zone 4, sun, well-drained soil

Shape: Mounded

Foliage: Silver or green, some varieties have wooly texture

Flowers: Summer

Notes: Some varieties have silver, softly hairy leaves that feel similar to a lamb's ear. Other varieties have more coarsely textured, green leaves but tend to have showier flowers. Stachys are generally easy-to-grow perennials for moist, well-drained soils in full sun to light shade.
